

New Mexico

20.5% of 16- to 24-year-olds in New Mexico are Opportunity Youth, or young people who are disconnected from education, employment, and service opportunities.

They are referred to as Opportunity Youth because they are both seeking opportunities and present a tremendous opportunity for their communities and the county – if we invest in them.

The impact this investment would make in New Mexico:

About the Campaign:

Since 2017, we've worked with elected officials to ensure youth and young adults disconnected from education and employment are prioritized in budget decisions, policies and programs. Equitable access to education, employment and service pathways lead to intergenerational economic mobility for youth, young adults, and their families.

"On my first day of YouthBuild, I didn't even know how to read the marks on a tape measure. When I graduated, I was OSHA-certified and built energy-efficient homes for local low-income families very much like my own."

-Ruben Castro, YouthBuild ALum

Data Sources:

1 Measure of America (2023)

2 The percentage of Opportunity Youth reached through federal programs in the country would increase from 6% to 19%, decreasing the number of Opportunity Youth in each district by an average of 13%.

3 Belfield, C, Levin, H, and Rosen, R. (2012). The Economic Value of Opportunity Youth. CNCS and City University of New York. Uses Current Population Survey data to calculate that the average working young person contributes $2,430 in taxes while the average opportunity youth contributes $750 in taxes per year. The paper notes that this is a conservative estimate of the tax gap because it does not include consumption taxes.

4Ibid. Savings come from reduced: Governmental crime expenditures for disconnected youth (juvenile corrections, police protection, judicial and legal expenses); Welfare expenditures for disconnected youth: (Supplemental Security Income, Public Assistance, TANF, Housing Assistance, WIC, SNAP); and Government healthcare expenditures for disconnected youth (Medicare, Medicaid, CHIP, DoD, DVA)
